FEATURED GIRL CRUSH

American Blonde

You might remember American Blonde when they were a trio of sisters called Southern Halo. Well, the halo's off, and sisters Nata and Tinka have evolved their group into a full band. They're in the Girl Crush Country studio talking about that evolution, the highs and lows, faking smiles they didn't feel, jail time (wait, what?) and the new music that is 100% home. NEWS

Here's Your Second Chance, Fancy

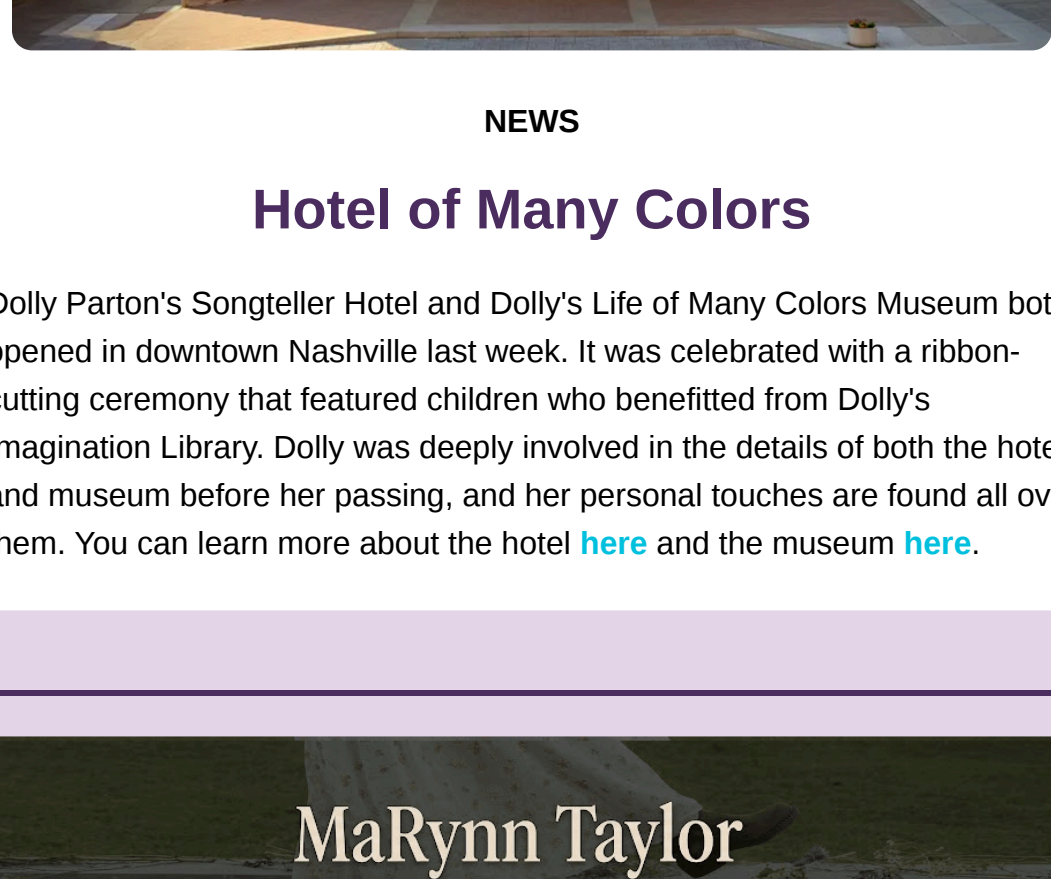

Reba McEntire has been making music for 50 years, and that means a hefty collection of memories in the form of outfits, jewelry, posters, and more. And she's ready for someone else to take care of those memories. So on October 23, Julien's Auctions will hold live (at Nashville's Musician's Hall of Fame & Museum) and online auctions featuring clothing from award shows, The Voice, and other TV and movie appearances, jewelry, boots, and more. Reba says, "After 50 years ... now it's time for them to move on to someplace else to find a new home. They'll have the story, they'll have the outfit and they'll know that I did wear 'em." It all benefits The Reba Fund, which supports projects that focus on the health and well-being of families, the dignity of those who have served, and the dreams and opportunities of young people. You're Lookin' At Loretta

Remember Loretta Lynn's 2004 Jack White-produced Van Lear Rose album? And remember how it mysteriously disappeared from streaming platforms in 2021 and nobody has ever given a reason? Well, they're still not giving reasons, but now it's coming back to streaming platforms November 13, courtesy of White's Third Man Records. It will be remastered, and there will be new vinyl and CD editions out the same day. The new version will also include "Just to Have You Back," which until now was only on the Third Man Vault edition of the album. Pre-order here.

Hotel of Many Colors

Dolly Parton's Songteller Hotel and Dolly's Life of Many Colors Museum both opened in downtown Nashville last week. It was celebrated with a ribbon-cutting ceremony that featured children who benefitted from Dolly's Imagination Library. Dolly was deeply involved in the details of both the hotel and museum before her passing, and her personal touches are found all over them. You can learn more about the hotel here and the museum here.

It was this week in 1961 that Patsy Cline released her version of Willie Nelson's "Crazy." The song peaked at #2 on the Billboard country chart and also went top 10 on the pop chart (run and tell that to the "that's not country" crowd!), and became her signature song. In 1996 it became the all-time most played song in US jukeboxes, and in 2003 it was inducted into the Library of Congress.
